World War I Flags on Display

The Michigan Capitol Battle Flag collection will be featured in a Michigan History Center exhibit commemorating the centennial of World War I. About 186,000 Michigan soldiers served in “The Great War” and although the regiments didn’t carry their flags into combat, they still served as important symbols of courage and camaraderie.

The exhibit is open till November of 2018, and will showcase a rotating selection of the WWI flags held in the collection.

This flag, carried by the 126th Infantry Regiment will be on display
Until October 8
