RE: LARA Regulatory Fees (Updated for FY 2011)

The Chairman requested an analysis of fees collected under LARA from the House Fiscal Agency to inform the Appropriation Subcommittee for LARA in their evaluation of regulatory fees assessed in the state. To conduct the analysis, the fiscal analyst with assistance from the Bureau of Finance and Administrative Services compiled a comprehensive list of the fees collected under LARA, this list is attached as Appendix 1. A few preliminary results of this analysis are reported in this memo.¹

How many fees are collected under LARA?

As of September 30, 2011, there are 259 fee objects and 1,265 detailed fees² (excluding state wholesale sales of liquor & 1.85% specific tax on liquor). The majority of detailed fees are collected under either the Bureau of Commercial Services (32.2%) which licenses occupations and regulates corporations or the Bureau of Construction Codes (24.9%) which regulates various construction industries and promulgates codes. Another 17.5% of detailed fees are collected under the Office of Financial & Insurance Regulations, while the bulk of remaining detailed fees are collected under the Bureau of Health Professions (11.3%) and the Liquor Control Commission (6.9%). A comprehensive analysis of the number of fees collected under applicable LARA agencies is included in Appendix 2.

What are the legal bases of fees collected under LARA?

All fees collected under LARA are sanctioned by legislative authority, i.e. authorized through statute. However, the determination of a fee (the amount, the frequency, the applicability, etc.) may be undertaken directly by the legislature via statute, or the legislature may authorize the administration to determine the fee via rule or order. 68.4% of these fees are determined by the legislature through statute while 31.5% are determined by the administration either via rule (11.3%) or order (20.2%). A comprehensive analysis of the legal basis of fees collected under each applicable LARA agency is included in Appendix 2.

What are the amounts of fees collected under LARA?

Due to the extensive diversity of fees, specifically how fee amounts are calculated (whether a definite dollar amount or range, a percentage or per unit valuation, through a statutory formula, via administrative fiat, or cost recovery), it is not feasible to clearly summarize this diversity of fees in a simple table or chart. Instead, the amounts of each fee, to the greatest possible detail, are presented in the Fee Master List as Appendix 1. Manifestly, the fees collected under LARA reflect the extensive and intricate legislative history of the State and the range of activities regulated by LARA.

² "Detailed fees" reflect the legal delineations and applications of a given fee object; how the fee is administered and collected. "Fee objects" represent the classification that the fee is organized within LARA's accounting system; the level from which annual revenue data are reported. All detailed fees are embedded within fee objects, but not all fee objects may have detailed fees embedded within them. For example, starting from the top, "Security Broker-Dealer Registration" fees are classified as a fee object, embedded within this fee object are "Security Broker-Dealer Registration", "Investment Adviser Registration", "Filing Fee for Application for Registration of a Successor", and "Federally Covered Adviser" detailed fees. Some fees are more detailed than others. The least detailed fee is classified only at as a fee object.

How many licenses or permits are issued under LARA?

As of December 31, 2010 (with updates), 2,772,495 licenses and permits have been issued from agencies within LARA. The majority of these licenses and permits are issued from the Bureau of Commercial Services (68.0%). The next largest number of licenses and permits are issued from the Bureau of Health Professions (13.4%) and another 10.9% are issued from the Office of Financial and Insurance Regulation. A comprehensive analysis of the number of licenses and permits issued from each applicable LARA agency is included in Appendix 2.

What are the revenues generated by fees collected under LARA?

The 259 fee objects generated total revenue of $298,437,205 in FY 2011. The average annual revenue generated by fee objects between FY 2005 and FY 2011 was $273,295,638. In FY 2011, fee objects generated 9.2% more revenue than the average (nominal) annual revenue generated between FY 2005 and FY 2011. Between FY 2005 and FY 2011, the (nominal) annual revenue generated by fee objects increased by 40.0%. A comprehensive analysis of the revenue generated by each fee object and totaled for each applicable LARA agency is included in Appendix 3.

What is the effect of inflation on revenues generated by fees collected under LARA?

An issue of importance which affects the (nominal) revenues generated by fees collected under LARA is the effect of inflation³. During periods of inflation, the value of a fixed fee amount and its revenue stream is steadily eroded as the general price level increases. This has the effect of reducing the actual (or "real") value of the revenue relative to expenditures. By "deflating" revenues generated by fee objects collected under LARA to a specific point in time (2005 for our purposes), we can gain a clearer picture of the actual changes in LARA's fee revenues.

One way to get a sense for the effect of inflation on fees collected under LARA is to look at the most recent year that a given fee was revised; this information is included in Appendix 1. To appreciate broader picture, one could calculate the average recent revision year for each agency within LARA and even for the entire Department. Doing just that, we come to the average recent fee revision year 1993 for LARA. A comprehensive analysis of average recent fee revision year for agencies within LARA is included in Appendix 2.

Regarding the fee revenues, adjusted for inflation, the 259 fee objects generated total (real) revenue of $269,404,661 in FY 2011. The average annual revenue generated by fee objects, adjusted for inflation, between FY 2005 and FY 2011 was $256,714,344. In FY 2011, fee objects generated 4.9% more revenue, adjusted for inflation, than the average annual revenue generated between FY 2005 and FY 2011. Between FY 2005 and FY 2011, the annual revenue generated by fee objects, adjusted for inflation, increased by 26.4%. A comprehensive analysis of the inflation-adjusted revenue generated by each fee object and totaled for each applicable LARA agency is included in Appendix 3.

What are the revenues deposited within LARA restricted funds and the expenditures withdrawn from these funds?

Most of the restricted funds within LARA are considered for this analysis^{4,5}. In FY 2011 $308,154,619 in revenues was deposited into these restricted funds and $293,480,203 in expenditures and encumbrances was withdrawn or reserved. The average annual revenues deposited into these funds between FY 2005 and FY 2011 was $275,102,091 of which $285,573,152, on average, was withdrawn and expended. In FY 2011 deposited revenues are 12.0% higher than the FY 2005 to FY 2011 annual average and expenditures are 2.8% higher. Between FY 2005 and FY 2011, the annual revenues deposited into the restricted funds increased by 44.4%, while during that same period expenditures from the funds increased by 16.4%. A comprehensive analysis contrasting the revenues and expenditures over the past seven years, including inflation-adjusted amounts, for each of the restricted funds and totaled for each applicable agency within LARA is included in Appendix 4.

It is important to remember that this is an analysis of fund-level data and of not fee object-level data as reported in previous parts of this memo. The reason for the shift to fund-level data being that fee object-level data measures only the revenue generated by a fee before it is deposited into a restricted fund. After fee revenues are deposited within restricted funds, expenditures can be withdrawn. The crucial fact to remember is that there may be deposits into restricted funds that are not revenues generated by fee objects and likewise there may be withdrawals from restricted funds that are not exclusively for the administration and collection of fee objects.

It may be helpful to think of revenues generated by fee objects as a stream (revenue stream) and the restricted fund as a reservoir, water (money) flows down the stream into the reservoir (but can never flow back up the stream, hence no expenditure data at the fee-object level), once within the reservoir the water can either be allowed to accumulate or the local water authority (i.e. Appropriations Committee) can open up the dam valves and authorize water to flow out of the reservoir and into the hinterlands.

Are there any upcoming sunsets on fees collected under LARA?

One-hundred and one (101) past fee increases, affecting 8.0% of detailed fees, are due to sunset on 10/1/2012. These include securities broker-dealer and agents fees (2008 PA 551), various occupational license fees (2003 PA 87) including residential builders (2007 PA 158), select corporate filing fees (2003 PAs 81, 106, 107) and specific plumbing, electrical, mechanical, and building license and permit fees (2008 PAs 370, 371, 372 & 373). The specific detailed fees that will sunset are listed in Appendix 1 and a comprehensive analysis of the number of fee increase sunsets for agencies within LARA is included in Appendix 2.

⁴ Fund-level data for the Bureaus of Health Systems and Professions were not yet available at the time of this analysis. The administration and accounting information of the Bureaus of Health Systems and Professions are currently being transferred from the Department of Community Health to LARA. The analysis will be updated as this data become available.

⁵ The Liquor Purchase Revolving Fund is not reported. The LPRF is an "enterprise fund" and is managed in a similar way to a business. Revenues are generated from the wholesale sales of liquor by the state and a 1.85% specific tax on retail sales; expenditures include the purchasing of liquor from distillers and the operations of the LCC. Remaining LPRF monies lapse into General Fund at close of fiscal year.

How are revenues generated by fees collected under LARA disposed?

The fees, funds, and revenues reported above are organized under "Primary LARA Agency". Generally, fees collected under a particular agency and for a specific purpose are expended within that agency and for that purpose. However, it should be remembered that revenues generated by specific fees and deposited into restricted funds that are primarily disposed under a particular LARA agency, are occasionally disposed within LARA for other purposes or under other agencies. Most notably in FY 2011, Corporation fees and Securities fees collected under Bureau of Commercial Services and OFIR, respectively, funding MIOSHA administration, the (former) Bureau of Worker's and Unemployment Compensation (specifically the Board of Magistrates & Appellate Commission, the Wage & Hour Division, and the Supplemental Benefit Fund), and the Employment and Labor Relations Board.
