Consensus that medical and recreational MJ should be regulated the same

Thinking about medical marijuana, do you think medical marijuana providers should be subject to the same regulations as recreational marijuana providers like testing, tracking, licensing and safety?

Majority of every major subgroup strongly support regulating medical marijuana the same as recreational marijuana

Proposals tested

(PREMISE) Voters approved laws to allow the growing and selling of marijuana and cannabis products for medical use in 2008 and recreational use in 2018. The law that legalizes recreational marijuana makes licenses available to grow, process and sell marijuana products that are tested, tracked and regulated by the state to anyone over the age of 21. The law legalizing medical marijuana allows people it calls caregivers to grow up to 72 plants for themselves and up to 5 patients. Because 72 plants provide far more marijuana than can be consumed by a caregiver and their 5 patients, many caregivers sell their excess marijuana plants against current regulations.

Proposals Tested

(TESTING) Requiring caregivers who grow for more than one patient to have their product tested for harmful substances using the same standards as current licensed growers and processors.

(LOCATION) Caregivers would be required to report where they grow marijuana to the state.

(LICENSING) Requiring caregivers who grow for more than one patient to obtain a license through the state.

(MRA) Requiring Marijuana Regulatory Agency inspections for caregivers who grow for more than just one patient.

(EXCESS PRODUCT) Caregivers who grow for more than one patient will be allowed to sell their excess product to licensed growers.

(TAXES) Caregivers who grow for more than one patient would be required to pay taxes except for sales to patients.

(ONE PER ADDRESS) Only one Caregiver per address would be permitted.

(TRACKING) Requiring all products from Caregivers who grow for more than one patient to be tracked on the state's tracking system.

(RESIDENTIAL) Caregivers who grow for more than one patient would not be allowed to grow in residential neighborhoods

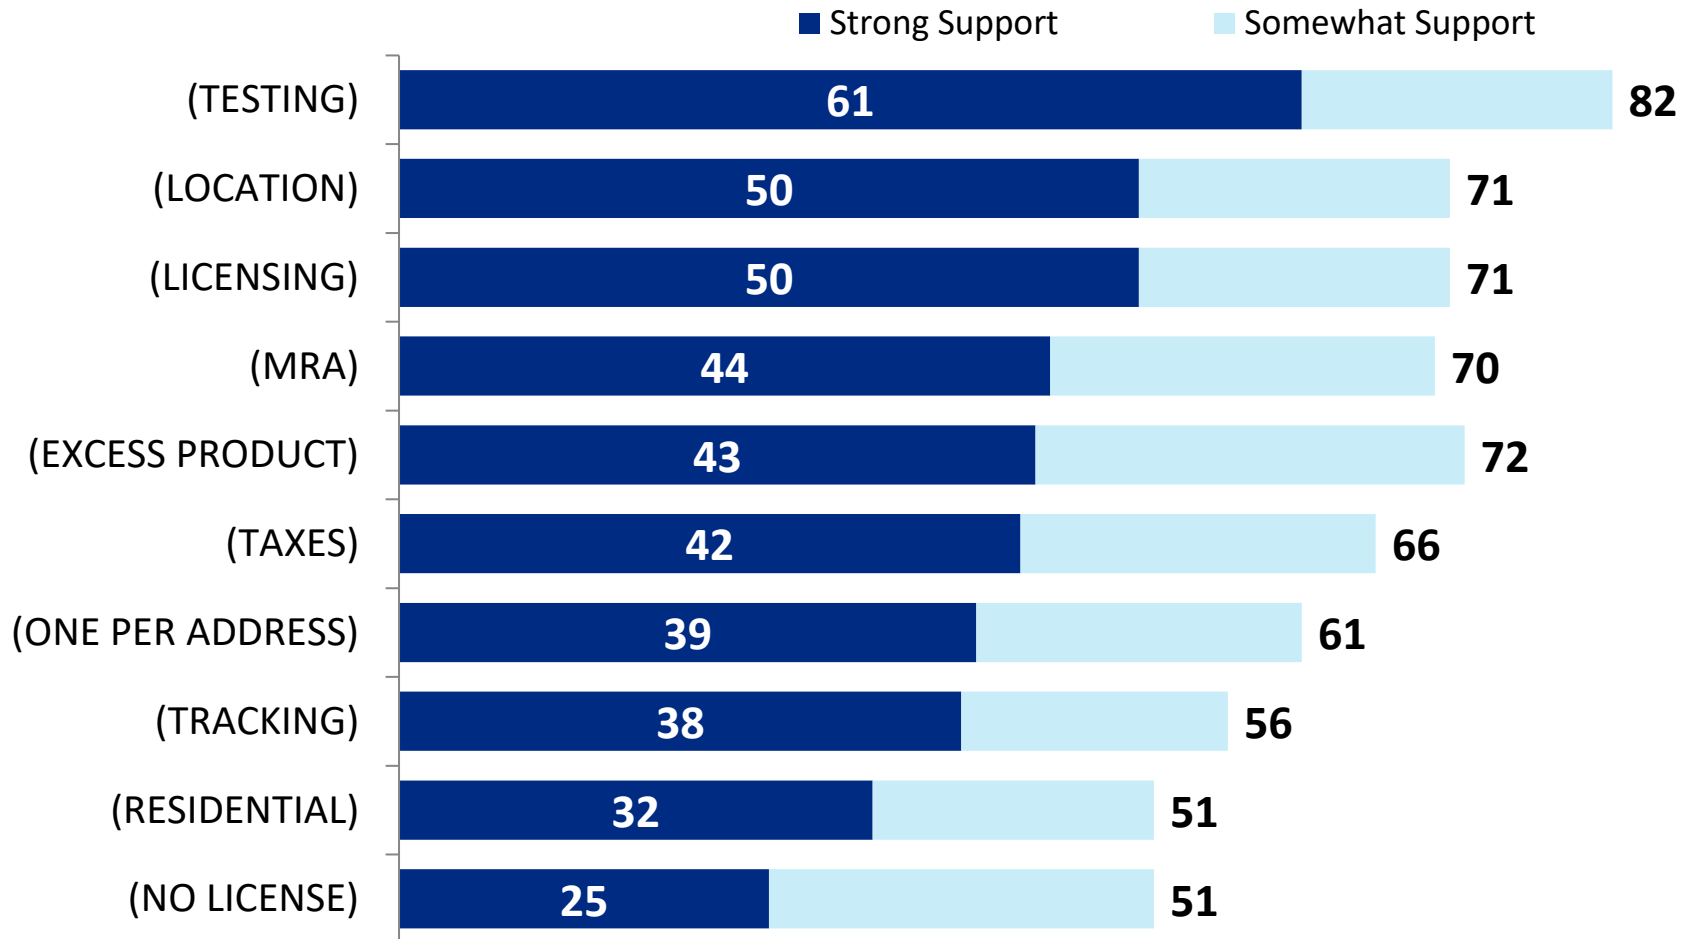

(NO LICENSE) Caregivers who choose to not be licensed would be able to grow just for themselves and one patient.

Requiring testing, reporting on location and licensing receive strongest support
