A week ago today, Karagan suffered three cardiac arrests. Life has returned to normal in the Calley household, and she is once again simply responsible for CAUSING them. This was taken just a few minutes ago.

Karagan Grace, when I said you could scale any mountain, this is not what I meant! lol God's mercy continues...

Getting a heart checkup... Catching Pokemon...

What a difference 5 years makes. Kara is six years old now (she'd say "6 and a half") and thankfully does not remember anything about what it took to save her back then. But Julie and I remember all the positive energy, prayers and well wishes from so many people when we needed it most.

Karagan is doing great thanks to one of the best hospitals in America: C.S. Mott Children's Hospital.

Oh, and as we were walking down the hall Karagan asked "Why is everyone here a Michigan fan?"
