

How educators utilize benchmark data and professional development

Luci Willits, Curriculum Associates

How benchmarks help educators

- Offers real time data
- Align to state standards, assessments
- Gives at a glance data points
- Shows progress, growth
- Helps guide instruction
- Differentiates instruction
- Student owns learning
- Empowers educators with information

Professional Development

Coach vs a referee

Instruction vs product

Supports changing instruction

Truly be data driven

